

Dear Hiring Team,

My name is Aleš (Alex for simplicity), and I am writing to express my interest in the Web Developer position at your company. With a background in computer science and practical experience in web development, I am eager to contribute to creating innovative and high quality digital experiences that align with your client goals and business objectives.

I have a solid foundation in web development, with proficiency in HTML, CSS (Bootstrap), JavaScript (jQuery), and PHP (Laravel), despite having experience in education and hospitality as well. I have experience with React, Node.js, and MySQL, and I have worked with GitHub for version control. In order to make sure that websites function smoothly, load rapidly, and offer a flawless mobile experience, I have also added SEO friendly elements.

I am confident that my skills in problem solving, collaborating with cross functional teams, and continuous learning align well with the role's responsibilities. I am particularly excited about the opportunity to integrate third-party tools, resolve technical issues, and continuously enhance website performance while staying updated on the latest industry trends.

I'm dedicated to helping a productive and successful team and making sure that clients are satisfied by providing high-performing digital solutions. I'm excited about the possible professional development prospects your organization offers, and I'm glad to be working on-site in Auckland. I'm excited to talk about how I can help your team.

Thank you for considering my application. I have attached my CV for your review and look forward to hearing from you soon.

Ngā mihi,
Aleš Spital